

mydemy

CREATING LIFELONG LEARNERS

Jiran Panlanatiyarak
Chief Executive Officer &
Co-founder of mydemy

This Certificate is to certify that worada sripetch

has successfully completed the online, specialization cohort

Introduction of Data Analytics

This marks an important milestone in your journey toward becoming a data-literate professional. Over the duration of the course, you have built a strong foundation in core analytical concepts, including data collection, preparation, exploration, and visualization. You've learned how to use industry-standard tools to work with datasets, identify trends, and extract meaningful insights.

Beyond technical skills, you've gained the ability to think critically about data—asking the right questions, interpreting results responsibly, and communicating your findings with clarity and purpose. These skills are not only relevant across countless industries, but also crucial in an age where data drives strategic decision-making.

By completing this course, you've demonstrated both analytical competence and a commitment to continuous learning. You are now better equipped to contribute to data-informed projects, support business intelligence efforts, or continue your learning in more advanced areas of data science.

2D01C6EB94E0-2D01C69EFD70-156E0B872

in partnership with

